

International Mother Earth Day

April 22

Why?

To raise awareness among humanity of the problems caused by overpopulation, pollution, conservation of biodiversity and other environmental concerns.

“Nature is inexhaustibly sustainable if we take care of it. It is our universal responsibility to pass on a healthy earth to future generations.”

Sylvia Dolson

Champions of the Earth

Since 2005, the UN recognizes the work done by people or groups who work for the environment, inspire others and fight for a better future for our planet. This is the world’s most important environmental award.
